          F        F7              Bb     *                F     Dm               G  C
1 I cannot tell why he, whom angels worship; Should set his love upon the sons of men
            F         F7                 Bb       *              F          *
  Or why, as Shepherd, he should seek the wanderers; To bring them back, they know not how or
   *   A7
   when
            Dm          Bb             F   A7                 Dm     Bb           C   *
  But this I know, that he was born of Mary; When Bethl'em's manger was his only home
             F        Bb           F       Dm           F                C                F   *
  And that he lived at Nazareth and laboured; And so the Saviour, Saviour of the world, is come.

          F        F7          Bb      *             F        Dm                    G   C
2 I cannot tell how silently he suffered; As with his peace he graced this place of tears
            F      F7                Bb    *              F       *                *    A7
  Or how his heart upon the cross was broken; The crown of pain to three and thirty years
            Dm       Bb              F      A7              Dm      Bb                C   *
  But this I know, he heals the brokenhearted; And stays our sin and calms our lurking fear
               F      Bb             F    Dm              F                C               F
  And lifts the burden from the heavy laden; For still the Saviour, Saviour of the world is here

          F        F7              Bb     *              F         Dm          G   C
3 I cannot tell how he will win the nations; How he will claim his earthly heritage
          F      F7            Bb     *             F        *             *   A7
  How satisfy the needs and aspirations; Of east and west, of sinner and of sage
            Dm        Bb                  F  A7               Dm       Bb             C   *
  But this I know, all flesh shall see his glory; And he shall reap the harvest he has sown
               F       Bb                F    Dm                F                C
  And some glad day his sun will shine in splendour; When he the Saviour, Saviour of the world, F    *
   is known.

          F        F7                  Bb     *             F       Dm             G      C
4 I cannot tell how all the lands shall worship; When at his bidding every storm is stilled
            F       F7            Bb    *            F          *               *    A7
  Or who can say how great the jubilation; When every heart with love and joy is filled
            Dm        Bb                     F  A7               Dm     Bb           C   *
  But this I know, the skies will thrill with rapture; And myriad myriad human voices sing
              F           Bb                   F Dm                 F                C
  And earth to heav'n, and heav'n to earth, will answer; 'At last the Saviour, Saviour of the world, is King!'
            F    *
