Alas! and Did My Savior Bleed

Key: C Time: 4/4 Tune: HUDSON

```
   C        *      F      C
1 Alas! and did my Savior bleed
      C      *         G  *
  And did my Sovereign die?
        C    *         F      C
  Would he devote that sacred head
      G       *       C *
  For sinners such as I-?

|       C             F             C             *
| At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
|        C            G             *  *
| And the burden of my heart rolled away
|       C        *         F         C
| It was there by faith I received my sight
|     C        G             C  *
| And now I am happy all the day.

      C      *           F      C
2 Was it for crimes that I have done
     C        *       G   *
  He groaned upon the tree?
   C      *     F       C
  Amazing pity! Grace unknown!
      G      *      C   *
  And love beyond degree!

|       C             F             C             *
| At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
|        C            G             *  *
| And the burden of my heart rolled away
|       C        *         F         C
| It was there by faith I received my sight
|     C        G             C  *
| And now I am happy all the day.

       C         *      F        C
3 Well might the sun in darkness hide
      C        *       G *
  And shut its glories in
       C        *      F      C
  When God, the mighty maker, died
      G       *          C  *
  For his own creature's sin.

|       C             F             C             *
| At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
|        C            G             *  *
| And the burden of my heart rolled away
```

```
       C        *         F         C
It was there by faith I received my sight
    C        G             C  *
And now I am happy all the day.
```

```
     C       *       F        C
4 Thus might I hide my blushing face
      C        *       G    *
  While his dear cross appears
   C        *        F       C
  Dissolve my heart in thankfulness
    G         *       C    *
  And melt mine eyes to tears.
```

```
       C             F             C             *
At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
        C            G             *  *
And the burden of my heart rolled away
       C        *         F         C
It was there by faith I received my sight
    C        G             C  *
And now I am happy all the day.
```

```
    C        *         F       C
5 But drops of tears can ne’er repay
    C       *      G  *
  The debt of love I owe
      C       *      F     C
  Here, Lord, I give myself away
     G        *     C *
  ’Tis all that I can do.
```

```
       C             F             C             *
At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
        C            G             *  *
And the burden of my heart rolled away
       C        *         F         C
It was there by faith I received my sight
    C        G             C  *
And now I am happy all the day.
