Alas! and Did My Savior Bleed

Key: F Time: 4/4 Tune: HUDSON

```
   F        *      Bb     F
1 Alas! and did my Savior bleed
      F      *         C  *
  And did my Sovereign die?
        F    *         Bb     F
  Would he devote that sacred head
      C       *       F *
  For sinners such as I-?

        F             Bb            F              *
  At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
         F            C             *  *
  And the burden of my heart rolled away
        F        *         Bb        F
  It was there by faith I received my sight
      F        C             F  *
  And now I am happy all the day.

      F      *           Bb     F
2 Was it for crimes that I have done
     F        *       C   *
  He groaned upon the tree?
   F      *     Bb      F
  Amazing pity! Grace unknown!
      C      *      F   *
  And love beyond degree!

        F             Bb            F              *
  At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
         F            C             *  *
  And the burden of my heart rolled away
        F        *         Bb        F
  It was there by faith I received my sight
      F        C             F  *
  And now I am happy all the day.

       F         *      Bb       F
3 Well might the sun in darkness hide
      F        *       C *
  And shut its glories in
       F        *      Bb     F
  When God, the mighty maker, died
      C       *          F  *
  For his own creature's sin.

        F             Bb            F              *
  At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
         F            C             *  *
  And the burden of my heart rolled away
```

```
       F        *         Bb        F
It was there by faith I received my sight
    F        C             F  *
And now I am happy all the day.
```

```
     F       *       Bb       F
4 Thus might I hide my blushing face
      F        *       C    *
  While his dear cross appears
   F        *        Bb      F
  Dissolve my heart in thankfulness
    C         *       F    *
  And melt mine eyes to tears.
```

```
       F             Bb            F             *
At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
        F            C             *  *
And the burden of my heart rolled away
       F        *         Bb        F
It was there by faith I received my sight
    F        C             F  *
And now I am happy all the day.
```

```
    F        *         Bb      F
5 But drops of tears can ne’er repay
    F       *      C  *
  The debt of love I owe
      F       *      Bb    F
  Here, Lord, I give myself away
     C        *     F *
  ’Tis all that I can do.
```

```
       F             Bb            F             *
At the cross, at the cross where I first saw the light
        F            C             *  *
And the burden of my heart rolled away
       F        *         Bb        F
It was there by faith I received my sight
    F        C             F  *
And now I am happy all the day.
